

TASHI WALPOLA

SUMMARY

I'm a warm, people-focused person who thrives on connection and bringing positive energy into every space I'm in. I was born and raised in New Zealand and am now in my final year at the New Zealand College of Chiropractic. I'm naturally caring, hands-on, and always looking for ways to support those around me. I love a good laugh, work hard, and bring a grounded, open-hearted approach to everything I do. Building trust and making people feel seen and supported is at the core of who I am.
